In D&T this half term, the children designed and made their own Scarecrow for the woodland. The children conducted some market research to discover what qualities an effective scarecrow should have. We then used our research to investigate which materials were most suitable for our project. The children really enjoyed designing their scarecrows and thinking about all the different materials and colours they were going to include. Y3 were so sensible when creating their final piece and they all look fantastic!

In History this half term, we have continued to develop our knowledge of Ancient Egypt. The children learnt all about cartouches and what their purpose is. The children then used their knowledge or hieroglyphics to create a cartouche. Here is a brilliant example.
